

BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT EXECUTIVE

Business Development Executive (BDE)

A Business Development Executive (BDE) is responsible for identifying new business opportunities, generating qualified leads, building strong client relationships, and supporting revenue growth. This role is ideal for individuals who enjoy communication, sales, marketing, and helping businesses solve technology challenges through innovative IT solutions.

This opportunity is designed for fresh graduates and aspiring sales professionals looking to build a career in Business Development, B2B Sales, Account Management, and IT Consulting.

Key Responsibilities

1. Lead Generation & Prospecting

Identify potential customers through LinkedIn, email campaigns, company databases, referrals, and market research.

2. Client Outreach

Engage prospects through cold emails, cold calling, LinkedIn messaging, and follow-ups to schedule discovery meetings.

3. Opportunity Qualification

Understand customer requirements, identify business pain points, and qualify opportunities before passing them to senior sales members.

4. Proposal & Presentation Support

Assist in preparing proposals, capability documents, presentations, quotations, and business documents.

5. CRM Management

Maintain accurate customer information, sales activities, pipeline updates, and follow-up schedules in CRM platforms.

6. Market Research

Research industry trends, competitors, target industries, and emerging technologies to identify new business opportunities.

7. Sales Coordination

Coordinate with technical, marketing, and management teams during client discussions and solution presentations.

8. Customer Relationship Management

Build long-term relationships with prospects and existing clients through professional communication and timely follow-ups.
